

Spirit of Jefferson

ESTABLISHED 1844.

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA., TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1900.

NEW SERIES, VOL. XXXV, NO. 17.

A TASTE FOR MUSIC

Should always be cultivated. No one thing does more to develop the mind or give a more valuable accomplishment than the study of music. One should have one of the

STIEFF PIANOS

for this purpose, as they are highly prized by all who possess them. They are the best instruments to buy, because of their price, because of their musical quality, because of their thorough construction, all of which points, coupled with their handsome cases, make them unrivaled instruments for the home. Instruments of other makes at first glance seem the most economical. Large stock of Second-Hand Pianos always on hand. TUNING, REPAIRING. Estimates cheerfully given and worked on application.

CHARLES M. STIEFF.

Warehouses—9 N. Liberty St.,
Factory—Block of East Lafayette Avenue,
Aiken and Lousville streets,
BALTIMORE, MD.

A. L. ANDERSON. (Geo. W. ANDERSON.)

A. L. Anderson & Co., West Virginia CARRIAGE WORKS,

MIDDLEWAY, JEFFERSON CO., W. VA.

THE undersigned have been established in the Carriage business on the Middleway and Shepherdstown turnpike, one mile north of Middleway, for four years past, and during that time have been doing a large and constantly increasing business in the manufacture of CARRIAGES, JUMP-SEATS, END SPRING & SIDE-BAR BUGGIES, JENNY LINDS, PLETONS, JAGGERS, & C.

Our work has been sold all through Jefferson and adjoining counties, and has always given satisfaction in every particular. It is our constant aim to work the very best material, and to do all work in first-class manner, and as to our prices we pledge ourselves to do work as low or lower than first-class work can be done for elsewhere.

If parties wish to consult us in regard to work, and do not find it convenient to visit our factory, we will, if notified by postal card, send a representative of the firm to visit them at their homes, and give all necessary information. Second-hand vehicles and good horses to be exchanged for work.

We keep constantly a large variety of New Vehicles in stock, and have also Second-Hand Carriages, Buggies, etc., which we sell very low.

A. L. ANDERSON & CO.,
May 9, 1899.

CHARLESTOWN

Marble & Granite Works,
Cor. George and North Streets.

DIEHL & BRO.,

Manufacturers of
MONUMENTS, TOMBS, STATUES
Slate and Marble

MANTELS,

Tiling, and all kinds of Building Marble and Sandstones.

All orders promptly filled at the lowest rates. All work guaranteed.

June 20, 1899.—J. M. D. 11, 11, 11.

THOS. H. MOORE, CLEON B. MOORE, MOORE & MOORE

Insurance & Real Estate

AGENTS,
CHARLES TOWN, W. VA.

Office in the Maxwell Building, next door to Hon. W. H. Travers.

Representing the following Fire Insurance Companies:

NORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE of England.

LANCASHIRE, of England.

PHILADELPHIA UNDERWRITERS, HANOVER, of New York.

GREENWICH, of New York.

UNITED STATES, of New York.

PROVIDENCE WASHINGTON, R. I.

MARYLAND CASUALTY CO.

We also represent the

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

of Philadelphia, one of the oldest purely mutual life insurance companies doing business in the United States. All policies absolutely irrevocable from date of issue. Loans cash paid up, or extended insurances after three years. Dividends annually.

All business entrusted to our care will receive prompt attention.

Respectfully,
Feb. 21, '99. MOORE & MOORE.

C. W. TAYLOR,

House, Sign and Fresco Painter,

PAPER HANGER & GRAINER

January 21, 1891.

First-Class Restaurant

Nicely Fitted up for All Seasons.

JAMES W. THOMAS

is prepared to serve all Entables in season at his Washington Street Restaurant, four doors west of the Hotel Watson, at all hours, and invites his friends and the public at large to call and give him a trial. Everything put up in the most approved style, and every effort made to please the most fastidious, be his appetite ever so delicate.

Oysters in every style a specialty, and orders for Dressed Poultry, for family use, given prompt and careful attention.

Dec. 15, '96.

W. M. Stanley, V. S.,

GRADUATE OF THE ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE, TORONTO, CANADA.

Allments of domestic animals will receive careful treatment. Prompt attention to all calls night or day. Charges reasonable. Residence, A. D. Barry's, opposite B. O. Depot, Charles Town, W. Va. O. 250, 390-3.

Painting, Papering, &c.

THE undersigned is prepared to do all kinds of Painting, Graining, Paper Hanging, etc. Prices moderate and prompt attention given to all orders.

T. M. BAKER.
May 2, 1899-11.

West Virginia University,

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.

The growth of the University is quite as notable in its equipment, its faculty, and its new departments as in its attendance. For example, look at established two years ago. It has a faculty of seven instructors, trained under the best teachers in this country and Europe. It occupies a separate building fitted up especially for its needs. Instruction on all stringed instruments, including violin, viola, mandolin, guitar, etc., is free. For voice and piano the fees are very low. A magnificent pipe organ for Commencement Hall is being constructed and it will be for the use of students of the School of Music. If you are interested in the study of music, write for full information.

The School of Music

Other departments of the University are developing with equal rapidity. The Pre-medical Department, with its four new instructors, deserves special mention. Write for a special pamphlet about it.

The University has a faculty of fifty-five instructors, graduates of the foremost schools in the world.

The Winter Quarter begins January 1, and the Spring Quarter April 1.

Jerome H. Raymond, President.

CHARLES RISSLER,

Undertaker & Embalmer,

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA.

Will furnish all kinds of Caskets and Coffins, and do Embalming according to the latest and most approved modes.

Offices in Maxwell Building, (formerly occupied by Hon. W. H. Travers,) where he may be found at all hours, day or night.

July 11, 1899-3.

A. D. BARR,

AGENT GRAND UNION TEA CO.,

Is now (after delays which could not be avoided) on his route visiting his customers, offering with every sale of Baking Powder and Tea. Wait for him.

NEW AND VALUABLE PREMIUMS

Investigate the plans of life insurance offered by the

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, of Philadelphia.

The Board of Trustees has adopted a resolution sanctioning the following endorsement to be placed upon all policies where the risk is not incontestable from date of issue for any cause except non-payment of premium.

It makes the policy a world-wide contract, free from all conditions as to residence, occupation, travel, but subject to a return of cash or place of death. PAID UP, extended, cash and loan values after 3 years.

For particulars, address,
MOORE & MOORE, Agents.

March 21, 1899.

WM. B. REED,

Chambersburg Nurseries,

CHAMBERSBURG, PA.

The undersigned has located in the shop of Mrs. Margaret Dooley, West Main street, near Holl's Pump, where he is prepared to execute all kinds of Tin and Stove Work, at short notice and upon reasonable terms.

Roofing and Spouting a Specialty.

Will also keep on hand, or manufacture to order, all the ordinary lines of Tinware, such as ERUIT CANS,

RUCKETS, PANS, ETC.

A liberal share of the public patronage respectfully solicited. B. F. DOOLEY.

Sept. 7, 1897.

C. HERMANN, Florist,

38-44 W. South St.,

FREDERICK, MD.

Will supply, on short notice, DECORATION and BENDING PLANTS, CUT FLOWERS, and FLORAL DESIGNS.

Decorations for Weddings, Receptions, etc., a specialty.

May 24-3.

Col. R. P. Chew. W. O. Norris.

CHEW & NORRIS,

Charles Town, Jefferson County, W. Va.

Real Estate and Loans.

BUY AND SELL FARMS, LOTS AND HOMES, COAL AND TIMBER LANDS, NEGOTIATE LOANS ON REAL ESTATE OR OTHER SECURITIES.

INVESTMENTS Carefully Arranged. All Business Conducted Confidentially and With Strict Promptness.

April 18-3.

DO YOU KNOW

That the surest way for a young person to become self-supporting is to get a thorough knowledge of shorthand and typewriting? If he learns bookkeeping all the better. In securing this education he must not overlook the important subjects of writing and spelling. We make a specialty of these essential studies, and for the sum of $20 a person may attend the day session for a period of ten months. Six months is found sufficient in some cases, and in others only five months is necessary, but we do not wish anyone to be deceived in thinking that these cases are the average, for they are not. You had better count on ten months. If you are at work during the day we will give you three months (12 weeks) of evening school, at a reduced rate. A beautiful catalogue will be sent you on application, but we prefer to have you come and see us. A good time to call is after five in the evening.

WOOD'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, 311 East Capital Street, Washington, D. C.

Oct. 31.

Flour and Feed Store.

The undersigned has removed his Flour and Feed Store to the west room of the Delamain building, Main street, Charles Town, where he will offer

and conduct the

FLLOUR AND FEED FOR SALE,

and conduct the

USUAL EXCHANGE BUSINESS.

Flour, Feed, &c., sold at rates to suit the times. Will be pleased to have the calls of all old customers, and respectfully solicit the patronage of the public in general.

April 5.

GEORGE H. TURNER.

THE JEFFERSON

COOPERAGE COMPANY,

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

FLOUR, APPLE AND LIME BAR ELS, AND OAK STAVES

AND DEALERS IN ALL KINDS OF COOPERAGE STOCK.

Main Office and Yard on B. I. Line.

A specialty of FLOUR and APPLE BAR ELS, which will be sold at reasonable prices. Will pay $4 per cord of 128 cubic feet for good Staves and Heading Timber, delivered at Factory.

FIRE WOOD,

in any lengths, sold and delivered on short notice.

July 18, 1890-7.

WHEN YOU VISIT

WASHINGTON

GO TO—

CAMPBELL'S VIENNA DINING AND LUNCH ROOMS,

Nos. 814 and 816 F. St. N. W., (BETWEEN 8TH AND 9TH STS.,)

Washington, D. C.

MEALS 15 AND 25 CTS. NO LIQUORS.

Nov. 7-13.

PHOTOGRAPHS FOR

CHRISTMAS GIFTS, CRAYONS, WATER COLORS, FRAMES, ETC., AT

H. B. FUNK & CO.'S

BISHOP BUILDING, Charles Town, W. Va.

Nov. 28.

C. F. WALL, Dealer in

LIVE STOCK,

CHARLES TOWN, JEFF. CO., W. VA.

STOCK Bought and Sold on Commission.—Will also accept parties in Purchasing Stock on a reasonable percentage.

January 26, 1892.

P. D. Davis. J. A. Emmert.

DAVIS & EMMERT,

House & Sign Painters,

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA.

Paper Hanging and Graining a specialty. Prices moderate, work executed promptly and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 7, 1899.

NEW BARBER SHOP,

IN REAR OF WATSON HOUSE.

I take this method of informing the public that I have opened a

BARBER SHOP in rear of Hotel Watson, and guarantee FIRST-CLASS WORK and polite attention. Hoping to receive a share of the public patronage, I remain most respectfully,

James H. Thompson.

Nov. 28.

MONEY to patent good ideas may be secured by our aid. The Patent Record, Baltimore, Md. June 13-17.

SPRIT OF JEFFERSON.

CHARLES TOWN, JEFFERSON COUNTY, W. VA.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 24, 1900.

470 W. HAINES. Editor and Proprietor.

$1.50 in Advance; 62 if not Paid in Advance.

ROUSS STATUE UNVEILED.

The Millionaire's Gift to New York City Formally Presented.

[Special Report for the Spirit of Jefferson.]

New York, April 23, 1900.

Yesterday afternoon the magnificent bronze statue representing Washington greeting Lafayette, Mr. Charles Broadway Rous, gift to the city of New York, was unveiled with fitting ceremonies.

The statue, which was modeled by Bartholdi, is located at the junction of Morris and Manhattan avenues, on Lafayette Square, 11th street. There were many people present prominent in social and public life, among whom were Gen. Horatio C. King, Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, President of the Board of Council; Mr. Edmond C. Bruwaert, French Consul General, who represented Ambassador Cambon; Gen. H. Kyd Douglas, of Hagerstown, Md.; Mr. Edward Markham, the author of "Man With the Hoe"; Prof. Adolph Cohen, Col. Wm. DeHertburn Washington, Mr. Charles Broadway Rous. The 14th Regiment and 7th Regiment bands furnished the music.

Col. Wm. DeHertburn Washington, who had charge of the ceremonies, made the opening address, in which he alluded feelingly to the character of the man who, through patriotic sentiment, had presented to the great city of New York the beautiful monument they had assembled to unveil. He referred briefly to the life of Lafayette and Washington, to their devotion to the cause of the patriots, and what they had done for the cause of Liberty. Among other things Col. Washington said, of Lafayette: "Have we forgotten how this young patriot shared the difficulties and discomforts of the struggle? His honesty and earnestness of purpose won him the confidence of his superiors and his future conduct proved it never to have been misplaced. His personal courage distinguished him the moment he came into the presence of the enemy. He never faltered and the credit and honor which he attained so rapidly, and which increased during each succeeding year of his service, were based alone upon the courage and sterling qualities of the man, and won his way to the affections of his commanding general and brother officers. But his proudest title was his sobriquet throughout the army of 'The Soldier's Friend.' It was neither rank nor wealth, but the true, earnest and unflattering man who won his success. His amiable temper, his extraordinary prudence and judgment, his exalted devotion, his unquestioned integrity, his conduct as a soldier, and his steadfastness as a friend of liberty, have placed him in the esteem of the nation and in the foreground among the acknowledged leaders of the revolution. A man, the highest type cast by nature, to whom equality was the most sacred symbol, and whom for the cause of mankind and its freedom, gave life and fortune. Purity was his soul, and justice and freedom his life. A century ago it was said 'By equally gentle, prudent and courageous conduct he has made himself the idol of Congress, of the Army and of the people of America,' and so may he ever remain."

Col. Washington then introduced Gen. Horatio C. King, who had been chosen to present the statue to the city on behalf of Mr. Rous. Gen. King's speech elicited frequent and hearty applause. He said in part: "When Lafayette arrived in this country matters were in such shape as to shake the confidence in final victory of even the most sanguine. The campaigns in New York, New Jersey and elsewhere, shrouded the bravest hearts in gloom, while in many cases large numbers abandoned the cause of liberty and renewed their allegiance to their oppressors. The fire in the rear has always been more depressing to the loyal patriot in every war in the life of this nation than the armed enemy at the front. History repeats itself, and there have been found, down to the present day, vast numbers who stand ready to gild the government in its efforts to sustain the honor of the flag. France did much to help the cause of Liberty, in both men and money. Many Frenchmen sacrificed their lives in the cause. The memory of those days never ought to be, and I think never will be, forgotten. However strained our relations with France may become, I do not believe that we shall ever go so far as to cross swords with her. The two countries will always remain united by the bonds of the Past, when France sent her sons to help us, and the names of Lafayette and Washington will always remain as the two bright stars in the revolutionary war."

President Guggenheimer, in accepting the monument on behalf of the city, said, among other things: "The star of American republicanism and prosperity will set in darkness when American boys and girls will cease to be instructed in those superb lessons of self-reliance and national independence which were taught to America and the world by the united genius of Washington and Lafayette. This beautiful statue is a national object lesson, the value of which cannot be overestimated. It represents and keeps alive our memories of the historic relations of friendship and mutual esteem which existed between the French and the American revolutionary forces. It will proclaim with voiceless eloquence the forgotten fact that France sent not

SPRIT OF JEFFERSON.

CHARLES TOWN, JEFFERSON COUNTY, W. VA.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 24, 1900.

470 W. HAINES. Editor and Proprietor.

$1.50 in Advance; 62 if not Paid in Advance.

ROUSS STATUE UNVEILED.

The Millionaire's Gift to New York City Formally Presented.

[Special Report for the Spirit of Jefferson.]

New York, April 23, 1900.

Yesterday afternoon the magnificent bronze statue representing Washington greeting Lafayette, Mr. Charles Broadway Rous, gift to the city of New York, was unveiled with fitting ceremonies.

The statue, which was modeled by Bartholdi, is located at the junction of Morris and Manhattan avenues, on Lafayette Square, 11th street. There were many people present prominent in social and public life, among whom were Gen. Horatio C. King, Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, President of the Board of Council; Mr. Edmond C. Bruwaert, French Consul General, who represented Ambassador Cambon; Gen. H. Kyd Douglas, of Hagerstown, Md.; Mr. Edward Markham, the author of "Man With the Hoe"; Prof. Adolph Cohen, Col. Wm. DeHertburn Washington, Mr. Charles Broadway Rous. The 14th Regiment and 7th Regiment bands furnished the music.

Col. Wm. DeHertburn Washington, who had charge of the ceremonies, made the opening address, in which he alluded feelingly to the character of the man who, through patriotic sentiment, had presented to the great city of New York the beautiful monument they had assembled to unveil. He referred briefly to the life of Lafayette and Washington, to their devotion to the cause of the patriots, and what they had done for the cause of Liberty. Among other things Col. Washington said, of Lafayette: "Have we forgotten how this young patriot shared the difficulties and discomforts of the struggle? His honesty and earnestness of purpose won him the confidence of his superiors and his future conduct proved it never to have been misplaced. His personal courage distinguished him the moment he came into the presence of the enemy. He never faltered and the credit and honor which he attained so rapidly, and which increased during each succeeding year of his service, were based alone upon the courage and sterling qualities of the man, and won his way to the affections of his commanding general and brother officers. But his proudest title was his sobriquet throughout the army of 'The Soldier's Friend.' It was neither rank nor wealth, but the true, earnest and unflattering man who won his success. His amiable temper, his extraordinary prudence and judgment, his exalted devotion, his unquestioned integrity, his conduct as a soldier, and his steadfastness as a friend of liberty, have placed him in the esteem of the nation and in the foreground among the acknowledged leaders of the revolution. A man, the highest type cast by nature, to whom equality was the most sacred symbol, and whom for the cause of mankind and its freedom, gave life and fortune. Purity was his soul, and justice and freedom his life. A century ago it was said 'By equally gentle, prudent and courageous conduct he has made himself the idol of Congress, of the Army and of the people of America,' and so may he ever remain."

Col. Washington then introduced Gen. Horatio C. King, who had been chosen to present the statue to the city on behalf of Mr. Rous. Gen. King's speech elicited frequent and hearty applause. He said in part: "When Lafayette arrived in this country matters were in such shape as to shake the confidence in final victory of even the most sanguine. The campaigns in New York, New Jersey and elsewhere, shrouded the bravest hearts in gloom, while in many cases large numbers abandoned the cause of liberty and renewed their allegiance to their oppressors. The fire in the rear has always been more depressing to the loyal patriot in every war in the life of this nation than the armed enemy at the front. History repeats itself, and there have been found, down to the present day, vast numbers who stand ready to gild the government in its efforts to sustain the honor of the flag. France did much to help the cause of Liberty, in both men and money. Many Frenchmen sacrificed their lives in the cause. The memory of those days never ought to be, and I think never will be, forgotten. However strained our relations with France may become, I do not believe that we shall ever go so far as to cross swords with her. The two countries will always remain united by the bonds of the Past, when France sent her sons to help us, and the names of Lafayette and Washington will always remain as the two bright stars in the revolutionary war."

President Guggenheimer, in accepting the monument on behalf of the city, said, among other things: "The star of American republicanism and prosperity will set in darkness when American boys and girls will cease to be instructed in those superb lessons of self-reliance and national independence which were taught to America and the world by the united genius of Washington and Lafayette. This beautiful statue is a national object lesson, the value of which cannot be overestimated. It represents and keeps alive our memories of the historic relations of friendship and mutual esteem which existed between the French and the American revolutionary forces. It will proclaim with voiceless eloquence the forgotten fact that France sent not only a message of cheer across the Atlantic to the first Republic of the Western World, but expended, on behalf of this nation, its richest blood and treasure. The American people will never be so ungrateful as to forget the services rendered to America in her hour of need by the gallant General whose name is perpetuated in almost every city throughout the United States beside that of the first President of the great Republic. In behalf of the city of New York, I officially accept this statue and transfer it to the care and custody of the Park Department."

Greatly to the regret of Col. Washington and others the French Ambassador was unable to be present. He was represented by Edmond C. Bruwaert, the French Consul General, who made a short, pleasant speech, and brought forth considerable applause.

Col. Washington and Mr. Bruwaert then gently pulled the American flag which covered the statue, and Mr. Charles Broadway Rous's magnificent gift to the city stood unveiled. Great and prolonged cheering greeted the unveiling. When the applause had subsided Mr. Rous arose and endeavored to speak. He was so overcome with emotion that he had to be assisted back to his seat. Again the cheering broke out and lasted for fully five minutes. The figures of the statue are twelve feet high and the group stands on a base of granite and marble of an equal height. Washington is represented as grasping Lafayette by the hand. Lafayette upholds with his left hand a stand of colors which forms a backing for the figures.

Commemorative exercises in honor of the presentation of the statue were held in the evening at Carnegie Hall. Most of those who attended the unveiling were present, and the hall was crowded to the doors. Col. H. Kyd Douglas made the principal address. Edward Markham, the author of "The Man With the Hoe," read an original poem.

The Committee in charge received several hundred letters of regret from both sides of the water from those who were unable to be present, among them a telegram from Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan, who said: "Please express to the Committee my regret that other engagements prevent my witnessing the unveiling of the statue of Washington and Lafayette. Their names are linked together in history by their joint efforts in behalf of liberty and self government, and their glory cannot fade while the principles for which they fought are remembered." Letters of regret were also received from President McKinley and Pere Hyacinthe, of Paris.

Col. Wm. DeHertburn Washington, who had charge of the ceremonies, carried the unveiling through to a most successful ending.

HARVEY N. DORSEY.

"The Better Part"

Of valor is discretion, and the better part of the treatment of disease is prevention. Disease originates in impurities in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood. People who take it at